—The commencement of a new year is a time when most people are in the habit of forming plans and making new resolutions for the conduct of life. The 1st of January is a sort of mile stone upon life's journey from which new departures are taken, and men resolve to abstain from the sins which do most easily beset them. Some at profanity, some the bottle, and some less venial sins, and, doubtless, they and the community derive much advantage from these resolutions, according to the fidelity with which the makers adhere to them. There is no reason for departing from this old custom. For each reader of the Gazette resolve to live a better life in the future than in the past, so that each succeeding new year may bring increased joy and happiness, with a conscience void of ill re-
To his 'thickly alive,' have gratefully, we will add that pleasant compliment of the season—A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

—This is taken by that Conservative Southern Democratic paper, the Nashville American. "There is no national ideal calling for action and duty lies. Forty years ago the tariff was a real sectional dividing line. It is no longer in any possible shape, it can take." Then New England, Pennsylvania and New York were the North and South Carolina, Virginia and Georgia were the South, and they were squarely divided, or nearly so, on the tariff—the one all agricultural, the other largely manufacturing. The various commercial aspects of slavery made that a sectional question, in which the leading line of division was up in the antagonism between free and slave labor, especially in the western territories, and in the extension of the western slavery. These questions are all out of the way, and now what interest upon either side forms a point about which can crystallize a sectional party? Not one appears, and not one is possible. The intermingling of trade, manufactures, mining and production in the South, in the North, have rendered it impossible that a sectional party could grow up commanding the solid support of either section."

—The Eastern members of the excursion party to the City of Mexico who were expected to sail Saturday on the Steamship City of Mexico for Vera Cruz will join the Western members of the company at Cincinnati, from which place they will set out together. They will leave New York Monday and Chicago on Saturday next. This change in the plans was made in order that the Eastern members might take part in the reception which will be given to the company at New Orleans. They will sail from the latter place January 25th, by the steamer City of Mexico, of the Alexandria Line, for Vera Cruz, from which place they will go to the Mexico by rail. While there they will be the guests of the government, which has appropriated $50,000 for their entertainment and the exhibition of their goods. The samples of the Eastern members of the company were sent out by the City of Mexico. A month will be spent in Mexico, and large commercial results are expected to follow from the introduction of American goods into Mexico.— Tribune

—A special dispatch says Washington, Rumber, a farmer, left the town of Custor, Ohio, for his home on Saturday night. On his way, when about two miles out, he stopped at the house of John Seem, and asked admittance, saying he was cold. Seem refused to open the door, whereupon Rumber broke in the window and attempted to enter. Seem then seized a shotgun and shot him through the head instantly killing him. Rumber is supposed to have been intoxicated.

—In looking forward to what the new year may bring for us the prospect is clouded with some anxieties, but the indications are that there will be a change for the better in the world of business. There is a feeling of confidence now, which did not exist a year ago. The prolonged period of depression has brought about habits of economy and thrift among all classes of people, and it is more than probable that the year which began yesterday will witness a revival of industry throughout the country.

—In Cridersville, Ky., last Sunday night, Mrs. Dickerson and the killing of a fire by throwing a handful of blazing powder upon it. The flash reached this key, an explosion followed, and she was wrapped in flame. She died of her injuries on Monday. Three of her children who were in the room at the time, were badly burned, and two of them are not expected to recover.

—The St. Louis Globe Democrat says "Missouri under Radical rule was much more prosperous than she has been at any time since the Democracy got possession. We had large accessions every year by immigration then, we have none now. Honest farmers will not move into a State with such an overwhelming Democratic majority if they can help it."

—The organ in the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal church at Baltimore suddenly stopped last Sunday while the organist was playing, and on investigation the colored bellows-blower, a man of 70 years, was found struck dead by heart disease. His body was carried home to the old mother of 108 years and the aunt of 101 with whom the youth had lived.

—The long contemplated project, to connect the two sections of Cleveland, Ohio, together, over the Cuyahoga river, was opened on Friday with great ceremonies. The viaduct is over half a mile long, and cost over two millions of dollars.

—Roast monkey is the Liberian dish on Thanksgiving and Christmas day. A resident of the African Republic says that "it's mighty dry eating and needs lard, but that can't be got for love or money."

—The Kensington carpet factories have resumed work, the strike having failed. The police were on hand to prevent disorder.

On Christmas day a colored man was arrested, who had escaped from jail in the neighboring state of New Jersey. He was placed in the town hall, and that night thought to would escape. He tried to break the lock off the door, but the fire did not burn just as he desired, and getting rather hot in there, he gave the alarm of fire. Mr. Richards, the night watchman, heard the sound, and soon the flames were put out. A pig, which was in the room, and a speck of fire had already commenced falling on a barrel of oil in the room below. The oil was used for filling the borough lamps. Had the fire continued a few moments longer the New Jersey authorities would have had no further trouble with the escaped convict.

Messrs. Jenkins & Robbins erected a new house a few weeks ago on a lot belonging to Mr. Jenkins, for their private use. D. P. Stackhouse helped fill the lot for the privilege of having it, and of those three families will have there the luxury very fairly the coming summer.

Mr. James Howell received a very nice silk umbrella from his little class, composed of young men in the Morristown M. E. Sunday school on Christmas and Mr. Gilbert, the pastor, was presented with a dress suit. The Sunday school had their annual reunion on Christmas eve. The festive entertainment was held on the night following Christmas, and very prettily looked the trees and tables. The church was well filled.

Maiden Wright, a genial man of past seventy, dropped dead near his shop door on the 30th ult. Heart disease was supposed to have been the cause of his death.

People now cross the river between here and Trenton on the ice.

Some of the owners of the large ice houses along the mouth of the creek which open in the Delaware, thought to fill them last Sunday but were forbidden to proceed on that day by the borough authorities.

Point Pleasant Market.
The annual market has been very brisk in our village during the past week. The ice houses were all filled last week off the Indian Creek and Delaware Rivers.

John S. Solomon and family, who stayed for Texas a short time ago, arrived there, safe and all right, and like the country well.

Jordan S. Field has gone to Kansas and from there he expects to go to Texas. He took his rifle with him and expects to bring a buffalo on two home with him.

Last Thursday night a lot of fine chickens were stolen from the barn of Samuel Nish, in Plumstead, and some from the hen house of his tenant on the same farm.

On Christmas morning, at ten o'clock, Rev. C. H. Thomas, of Lambertville, assisted by Messrs. Colby and Eason, of the same place, baptized fifty persons in the Delaware River, at this place. Although the weather was exceedingly cold, yet a large number of people gathered to witness the ceremony. After baptism, services were held in the church, at which Mr. Thomas acting in behalf of the church presented Mr. Colby with a box containing $58.00, as a Christmas present from the people, among whom he has so faithfully labored during the last few months.

—On Christmas eve the children belong to the New Hope Presbyterian Sunday School assembled in the Chapel to enjoy the tree which had been prepared for them. Addresses were made by Rev. P. A. Stoddard of Lambertville, Rev. W. D. Roberts of Solebury, and Mr. H. C. Shaffer of Lambertville, Superintendent of the school. On the same evening, an entertainment was given in the M. E. Church of the same place at which essays were read by Thomas Taylor and George R. Wallace, and an oration was delivered by Fletcher D. Scarborough. The children of the school presented to their pastor, R. Ames Johnson, a handsome lamp. The presents and speech was very happily made by William C. Ryan.

—Not without a feeling of pleasure that our Board of School Directors are on a higher level of intelligence, do we record the fact that in an incorporated city not far distant from our limits, the following exceedingly grammatical language was used by a member of a School Board in notifying a pupil as to which exercise upon the black board was intended for him: "Them a list, these is yours." Oily this, and nothing more. If the services of such gentlemen are needed by our citizens there will probably be ample opportunity to select them when the nominations are made for the approaching borough election.

—Mineral H. K. Hoff, U. S. N., died in the city of Washington on Christmas afternoon, at the residence of his son, Lieutenant-Commander W. B. Hoff, of consequence of the flu. He was sixty-nine years of age. His widow is the youngest daughter of the late Commodore William Bainbridge U. S. N. The remains were taken to Philadelphia and interred in the cemetery of St. James the Less, on Saturday. He was a native of Philadelphia, was a brave officer and had seen much service.

—Now aliveth the period when the farmer can sit quietly by his fireside without momentary interruptions from the "bang" from the fowler's gun, or the "muzzle" of the rabbit hunter's hound. This is one annoyance that has passed away with the dying year, for the law saith in plain and unmistakable terms: No more rabbit or quail until next October. Wherever, then, shall be content himself, who has spent so many of his days of leisure, during the past three months in hunting the bounding hare, or frightening the swifly flying quail?

—We call attention to the prospectus of Forest and Stream in our advertising columns. This journal is replete with interesting and useful information to all who are fond of healthful exercise upon land and water. The careful exclusion from its columns of anything of an humorous tendency, renders it a deserved favorite, and it is recognized as a leading authority in matters relating to field sports.

—A Florida editor writes, looking out on his court-yard, "where roses are in bloom and there is a watermelon vine with blossoms, a fig tree with figs on it, and a banana plant with young fruit."

—The farm of J. H. Woodington, near Southamptonville, Bucks county, was sold at public sale recently to John McChau, of Philadelphia, for $91 10 per acre.

There are 4,600,000 children in the public schools of the United States.

—A new Atlantic Cable company has been formed in Paris, in which both American and French capitalists are engaged.

—The standard of values in the United States is sixteen ounces of silver to one of gold. In France, fifteen ounces of silver is made equal to one of gold.

—Governor McKimlin has refused to con- sider the New Jersey Court of Pardons to consider the alleged insanity of Benjamin Hunter. The reason being left now to prevent the execution of Hunter on the 10th of January.

—Allan C. Laros, the paroled convict who escaped from the Lunatic Asylum at Harrisburg, in October, was released to his station last Thursday night, having surrendered himself to the Sheriff of Crittenden county, Arkansas.

—The body of Matilda Stubing, aged 12 years, stolen from a vault in the Bohemian cemetery, in Chicago, was discovered in the clothing room of the Chicago Medical College, last Monday night. There is no clue to the 'resurrections.'

—Col. Edward Wilk, late Colonel of Customs at Baltimore, Md., died on Saturday at his residence in Chestertown, aged sixty years. He was a leading and influential Republican, and the owner of the largest peach orchards in Kent county, Md.

—A Boston fireman put on a substitute Christmas night, and promised him $1.00 every cent he answered. The substitute got in his work by giving the false alarm during the night, and thought he had made a good thing of it. But the trick was discovered, and he was fined $100 and costs.

—The large boarding house formerly known as Frazer's Hygiene Home, at Florence Heights, N. J., was totally destroyed by fire on a early hour on Saturday morning. The loss is about twenty thousand dollars. It is believed that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

—A wild deer astonished the people of Smith County, Va., and a crowd of hunters started after it, and again it was seen herding with cattle in the town of Moore's Mass., and a sign in the town of Cherrington, Mass., where it swam across Deerfield river, and went West. Everywhere, so soon as it appears, there is a rush for guns to kill it, though Massachusetts puts a fine of $100 upon deer killing.

—Col. Frederick Grant, son of General Grant, sailed from New York for Liverpool on Saturday. From Liverpool he will proceed to Paris, where he will join his father and family, who will shortly start for Asia by the Mediterranean Sea and Suez Canal on the U. S. steamer Richmond. They will visit portions of British India, and do the honors of China, Japan and Spain. They will return by Australia and California in about six months.

—Just where intoxication began is has always been a delicate point, especially in the courts, which have been for many years wrestling unsuccessfully with the question—Does lager beer intoxicate? In the Pickney trial, however, a legal luminary has shed a flood of light upon the subject by giving it as his opinion that a man is now drunk unless he is unable to find his way home. It is to be hoped that the standard will be rigidly applied in all future nominations for judicial office.— Tribune

—Rev. F. W. Beasley, D. D., Rector of All Saints P. E. Church, who died suddenly at Toronto late on the 28th ult., was born in Philadelphia in the year 1807, his father being Mr. F. W. Beasley, who for many years was Professor of the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Beasley entered the General Theological Seminary, where he was educated for the ministry, but he never graduated from that institution. In 1830 he was admitted to deacon's orders by his parish, and took charge of Trinity P. E. Church, Easton, where he remained until the spring of 1834, when he was called to All Saints Lower Dublin in which charge he remained until his death. Dr. Beasley was one of the oldest clergymen in the Diocese.

—There was a strange scene at a funeral in Pittsburgh the other day. The deceased was a young married lady, who at one time had received the attentions of a gentleman who afterwards married another lady. The last named lady was present at the funeral and when the religious services were over she went up to the coffin and talked in a very excited manner, showing that she was jealous of deceased, and she declared that should her husband approach the coffin to look at the corpse she would tear out his eyes. The woman became so violent that it was necessary to remove her from the room, and to request her husband, who was outside, not to enter the house. All the parties occupy high social positions, and the disgraceful incident causes a great deal of talk.

It is proposed in Italy to make the civil marriage of ligatory before the religious ceremony is gone through, but if of leaving the matter to the option of the parties concerned. During the three years, 1873-6-7 there were celebrated at Rome 4,521 marriages, while in at least 1,638 other cases only the religious ceremony was performed. The children born of such unions are civilly illegitimate. Of the 4,521 marriages at Rome, only 17 took place on Tuesday and 9 on Friday. October is the favorite month, and as it is England there is a prejudice against May.

DOCTORS GAVE HIM UP.—It is possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy? "I assure you it is that that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctor gave him up and said to him: 'I will say it if that is so, I will give this minute a dollar to you for my pen and ink to write you a letter.'"

NOTES.

—There were over 150 deaths in Bristol last year.

—No serious fire in Bristol during the year 1878.

—Messrs. C. W. & J. Peire yesterday paid off their employees in gold.

—Over 2200 weight of poultry was received at J. Wesley Wright's, Christmas week.

—New Hope school did not close for the holidays, except on Christmas and New Years.

—Last Cooper, of Solisbury, has sold his small farm to a gentleman of Lambertville, for $3,300.

—Last Thursday evening, a coal oil lamp in Stock's barber shop set fire to the cup rack and window casings.

—Joseph Blooming, Jr., while skating on the river last Monday, broke in and made a narrow escape from drowning.

—The dedication of the Second Ward school house takes place to-morrow afternoon. The building will be open all day for the inspection of the public.

—The watch meeting services on Tuesday evening, were of a very impressive character; Rev. Dr. Cunningham delivered an excellent discourse on the occasion.

—The annual meeting of shareholders for the election of a Board of managers of the Bristol Library, will be held in the Library Room, Washington Hall, next Thursday evening.

—The concert given by the Buell family and of the Baptist church will be given to-morrow (Friday) evening. The music loving people of Bristol, will find this concert to be of superior merit, and they should not fail to attend.

—The Old Plantation Minstrels gave one of their characteristic performances, at Washington Hall, last Monday evening. A good sized audience was present, and the programme enacted, was fully up to the standard of shows of this class.

—The fumes from the end fire, used in one of the tableaux last Tuesday evening, affected the throats of the audience in such an unpleasant manner that its use will be dispensed with in any of the tableaux given at Washington Hall, this evening.

—The holiday festival of the Methodist Sunday School took place last Monday evening. The exercises consisted of singing and recitations by the scholars, and addresses by the pastor and others. The church was tastefully decorated, and each pupil was made happy by receiving a memento of the joyful occasion.

—On account of the stage being too low, a portion of the audience at the institute meeting on Tuesday evening, were unable to see some of the tableaux. This defect has been remedied by raising the stage about two feet, so that those who attend the performance this evening, will experience no difficulty on that score.

—The river was brightly dotted on New Year's Day with hosts of gay young men and maidens, merrily skating over the silvery surface of its ice-covered waters. None were busier than the ice-gatherers who are despoiling the broad surface of Silver Lake of its winter overcoat, to be retailed in slinking lumps next summer, when the Frost King is laid to rest and the Dog star rageth.

—List of letters remaining in the Bristol Post Office, Wednesday evening, January 1, 1879: Mrs. R. Jane Adkinson, Mulberry St.; Justine Benson, Chas. B. B. St.; Mrs. Sarah Everett, Sallie M. Richards, Linda Burleigh, Chas. R. Dorritt, Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels, B. L. Giron, Mrs. Ellen Heise, Geo. W. Kirkland, Mary L. Kingston, Hannah Mulhern, Chas. Mark, Helen McGinty, Eliza McGeever, Miss McGowan, John E. Heist, Edw. Paul, Sallie Pearson, William Paul, Kate Rogers, C. B. Russell, James Roache, H. Snider, Eliza Strimback, Miss Anne Townsend, Miss Lizzie Townsend, Henry Williams, Walker Williams, Lees Wood, Isaac Wynn, and Samuel M. Updyke.

—The Tableaux entertainments at Washington Hall this evening, for the benefit of the Bristol Library, will afford unusual attractions both to the lovers of music and those who are fond of the spectacular. The series of tableaux has been arranged by a number of ladies, with view to making the entertainment more than ordinarily amusing and instructive, and the musical contributions will embrace offerings from several of the finest musicians of the borough, with the addition of some from the city. The final piece will be an entire novelty in the form of a silhouette pantomime which of itself will be worth the price of admission. The audience will not only feel amply compensated, but will have the satisfaction of knowing that while they are being well entertained, they are also assisting the library project which has already proven its value as an institution.

—The Temperance Lyceum meeting on Monday night last, was well attended, the house being comfortably filled. The programme of exercises was an excellent one, and the performances were received by the large audience with evident satisfaction. The opening piece, a cornet solo, by Prof. Cottshol, accompanied by Miss Landerburgh on the organ, was followed by a recitation, "I am a Little Temperance Boy," by David Scott. After the reading by Annie A. Stradling, of "My Five Little Gentlemen," Misses Wright and Bach sang a duet, "Slavery Days." Mrs. Arthur T. Collins then read from Uncle Tom's Cabin the description of the pursuit of Eliza and her child. This was followed by an essay, entitled "Conversation," by Miss R. A. Peere. A recitation by Mary Sherman, "My Boy Don't Touch that Glass," was next in order, and the evening's programme then closed with a reading by Dr. John W. Adams, "The Bridal Feast." The President then addressed the audience in an earnest manner upon the necessity of keeping good company and using good language. The meeting then adjourned.

—A public school has just been completed in Brookville, Jefferson county, the cost of which, with the furniture, is $20,000.

—The Cornica Academy Jefferson county, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night.

Doylestown Letter.

The Court room in the new Court-House which Judge, Jury and lawyers are so ready to leave when a storm of any severity comes up, has been complained of because of its imperfect acoustic arrangements and as the Grand Jury of the last term of Court advised that some plan be devised to remedy the defect, the County Commissioners wrote to Architect Hutton in regard to the matter, and this is his reply:

The County Commissioners of Bucks county Pa., Messrs Solomon, Heller, and Goldard—Gentlemen:—In answer to your inquiry as to the acoustics of your new court room, I would say I have examined it and find it free from defect as any similar and fully furnished room of its size and capacity which I am familiar. Undoubtedly all that is required to render the hearing in it as perfect as possible for a court room, is to drop off as nearly as practicable, all the resonance of the wooden floor, base walls and seats. I would advise therefore, to begin your improvements by laying matting, such as now covers the aisles, on all the seat slatting; this will greatly subdue the sounds of the floor and the fling and booming feet, and consequently decrease the confusion. Next in certainty of effect would be lay hangings from wooden cornice to wainscot, under the whole court room, parted so as to nearly drape the windows and doors. These should be cotton goods, perhaps of the nature of felt, and of a light gray or neutral tint, and hung with brass hooks and eyes (wooden goods would probably suffer from moth). The third step would be to cushion the seats, and the fourth to upholster their backs. But I believe that if the walls were hung as above described, that these last steps would scarcely be necessary. As to shutting off the draught at entrance in court room, a pair of light fly doors, just inside the iron doors, to swing both ways, with headline over and glass panels above the pushing level will fully meet the case. Very yours, ADDISON HUTTON, Architect.

Whether the suggestions of the Architect will be carried into effect, and whether it adopted they will remedy the fault they are designed to, remains to be seen.

The affairs of the Alms House are still attracting considerable attention. There will in a few days be a new Steward to elect, and although it is generally conceded that David S. Peire is the present occupant of the position, will be his own successor, it is not positively certain. But although the ways of the Alms House are devious, and to most persons past finding out, it is probably a fact that the present Steward has done as well as could be expected under the peculiar circumstances with which he has been surrounded. The people who are interested in seeing that the taxes are kept down as low as possible, will be apt to make wry faces when they hear that the Directors of the Poor ask the County Commissioners to appropriate something like $40,000 for Alms-house purposes during 1879. A year ago the Directors stated that the total indebtedness of the Alms House was about $28,000 and the Commissioners allowed them $15,000 to go toward the reduction of the debt, and now the statement is made by them that there are still outstanding debts existing to the amount of $23,000 and they ask for funds to pay off that amount as well as $20,000 additional to run the institution this year. It would be interesting to know how, if at the beginning of 1875 the whole outstanding claims against the Alms House amounted to $28,000, and there still remains $23,000 unpaid, when $15,000 of it has been paid. I refer the problem to our newly elected Director of the Poor, William Kinsey, Esq., and hope he will give the matter his attention, and solve for us this new mode of arithmetical calculation.

On Monday, July 1, Commissioner Mc'Brien, of Bristol, and his colleague Commissioner McHenry, with Judge Watson's help, filled the jury wheel with several hundred names. They began at eleven o'clock in the morning and did not finish until seven in the evening. Sheriff Reinhardt then, in the presence of the two Commissioners, drew the jury list for the February term of Court. Bristol is represented in the list by Robert Holt and Robert W. Brooks, as grand jurors; William H. Paxson, Dr. Purcell and William Holt, as traverse jurors for the first week; Edmund Lawrence, Joseph T. Kinsey and William Tyrol, as traverse jurors for the second week. This is a pretty full representation for Bristol, and when the parties arrive in Doylestown they will be properly cared for and sent home in as good condition as possible. Undoubtedly it is expected to take charge of the whole company, and especially of Dr. Purcell and Edmund Lawrence. He would do well to bring a specimen of his roofing, for the Court House, bakes, and he may get a contract to put one of his roofs upon it.

Bucks county is now possessed of two returned vagabonds, who are willing to tell of their travels in public on the stage; one of them, Col. Davis, I have before alluded to, and the other is Judge Watson, whose lecture is called "At Home and Abroad."

When a few more of our citizens have taken a trip across the Atlantic, we will be so well informed in regard to the "celite desolation" of the Old World that the guide book business will be ruined, and the class of beings denominated Ferguson, by John T. Wain, will have to choose some other mode of occupation.

From the Intelligencer office this week something unexpected was issued—nothing less than an out and out Democratic paper, but don't fear, the politics of the Intelligencer has not undergone any change; it was Col. Davis's Democrat which came from the Republican office. The boiler of the Democrat establishment misbehaved itself, and in order to get his paper out on time the Colonel accepted the courtesy of his neighbors, who permitted him to use one of their presses.

D. M.

—Judge Watson will deliver a free lecture for the Y. M. C. A., on Friday evening next, in Johnson's hall, Halmerville, and will give his impressions of "The Old Country."

—Evening meetings began at the lower Solisbury church last Sunday night. After continuing there two weeks, the pastor, Rev. W. D. Roberts, expects to commence meetings in the New Hope Chapel.

—Williamson hall, at Fallsington, will be formally opened on Saturday, January 4th, 1879, at 10 a. m., with appropriate exercises. Several eminent speakers will be in attendance. A grand dinner, with oysters in abundance, will be served, on the European plan, all through the afternoon and evening, at reasonable rates. Musical and literary entertainments will be continued through the day and evening. All are cordially invited. An admission of 10 cents will be charged in the evening—proceeds for the benefit of the Fallsington Library Company.

BRISTOL RELIEF SOCIETY.

A meeting of the directors of Bristol was held at Washington Hall on Friday afternoon last, to effect an organization for the relief of the poor and the suppression of mendicancy. The meeting was largely attended by the prominent citizens of Bristol, and much interest was manifested in the contemplated organization. On motion, William Kinsey Esq. was chosen Chairman, and J. Wesley Wright Secretary. The Secretary read the call for the meeting, and an interchange of opinion upon its desirability and the best methods of procedure was held. Joshua Peire spoke of the excellence of what is known as the Germantown plan, which while affording relief to the poor in a population of 20,000 people, was so systematized and thorough that the deserving only were taken care of; one of the favorable points he mentioned was that in all gifts to the needy no money was contributed, but the relief was given in the articles needed, either food or clothing. The Rev. Mr. Cunningham said that he had some personal experience in the Germantown society, and extolled it highly. He said that it was almost impossible for undeserving people to impose upon the Society. No worthy person was neglected and no unworthy received benefits.

Mr. Charles E. Scheide, a member of the Council, spoke of the inefficiency of the borough fund, which was applied to the relief of the poor. The amount was insufficient, and it was given to families who had a chronic habit of begging the poor committee every winter for aid, while persons in greater destitution would not ask for the relief which should be offered. Mr. J. Wesley Wright said that after an experience of 15 years as Councilman, he had come to the conclusion that the money spent by the borough for the poor, was misplaced charity, and gave several instances where men who were offered work would do nothing, but whose families regularly received from the Poor Committee, orders on the stores for goods and provisions. The borough appropriated $200 a year, but spent $400 or $500, for this purpose.

Fanny Peire gave the history of a family as narrated at a meeting in Philadelphia, the first generation which was added, received it reluctantly, the second, while not asking for help, took it gladly, and the third were paupers.

Mr. John Hope, spoke of providing work for those out of employment. He mentioned the cutting of ice and piling it up on the banks of the river, covering it with boards, and then selling it, as a project which would furnish work to those who were now compelled to be idle.

Charles W. Peire favored the idea of employing men to break stone to put on the streets. He said that in this way a number of men could be given work and the streets would be kept in better repair than they now are, and at no greater cost.

On motion it was resolved that a committee of five persons be appointed by the chair for the formation of a Constitution to govern the Society. The Chairman appointed Charles E. Scheide, James M. Slack, Joshua Peire, Mrs. Samuel Strain and Mrs. Henry Morris. Mr. Scheide stated to the meeting that a draft of a constitution had been prepared, and that they could probably be able to report to the meeting in a few minutes.

While the Committee were out, remarks were made by various persons upon the desirability of the project. In a short time the committee returned and reported the following:

CONSTITUTION.

Article I.—Name. The name of this Association shall be "The Bristol Relief Society."

Article II.—Objects. The objects of this association shall be: 1. To see that all deserving cases of destitution are properly relieved. 2. To prevent indiscriminate and duplicate giving. 3. To make employment the basis of relief. 4. To secure the community from imposture. 5. To reduce vagrancy and pauperism, and ascertain their true causes.

Article III.—Methods. The objects of this association shall be attained as follows: 1. By establishing a permanent office with suitable accommodations for temporary relief. Provided, no relief shall be afforded to any one not a resident of Bristol borough. 2. By a system of visiting and inquiry, so thorough as to secure full knowledge of the merits of each case. 3. By assisting applicants for relief to obtain employment, in order that they may become self sustaining. 4. By giving aid in food and materials, and in money. 5. By a system of visiting and inquiry, so thorough as to secure full knowledge of the merits of each case. 3. By assisting applicants for relief to obtain employment, in order that they may become self sustaining. 4. By giving aid in food and materials, and in money.

Article IV.—Membership. This association shall consist of all persons who shall actively co-operate, and all others who shall contribute to its funds not less than one dollar per year.

Article V.—Officers. The officers shall consist of a President, Secretary, and Treasurer, who shall be elected by the members at the annual meeting, to serve one year, or till their successors are elected. And who shall also be the officers of the Board of Directors.

Article VI.—Directors. The board of Directors shall consist of six members of the Society, who shall be elected at the annual meeting together with the officers, as provided in Article Fifth, to serve one year, or till their successors are elected. They shall fill any vacancies that may occur, shall employ a superintendent, enact By Laws, and possess and exercise all the powers of the Society.

Article VII.—Board of Visitors. There shall be a Board of Visitors, consisting of such number of the women of the Society as shall be necessary, who shall be elected by, and receive their authority from the Board of Directors.

Article VIII.—Council. There shall be a council consisting of the Board of Directors, the Board of Visitors, and the Superintendent, for free conference, for review of work, for interchange of ideas, for suggestions and perfecting plans, and for unifying all interests concerned. The President of the Society shall be the president of the council, and all action of the said council shall be through the Board of Directors.

Article IX.—Meetings. The Society shall hold an annual meeting on the first Thursday in September of each year. Special meetings shall be called by the President upon the application of four members of the Board of Directors, or ten members of the Society.

On motion it was resolved to form a relief association. On motion the constitution was then adopted, article by article, as r.

ported by the Committee, with this exception of a restriction in Article III, which was offered by B. F. Gilkeson, and which confined the relief to be extended only to the residents of Bristol borough. Mr. Gilkeson took the ground that if we commenced to feed the army of tramps which passed through Bristol on the road between the two great cities of the nation, we would find that there would be such an influx of vagrants that there would be nothing left for our own poor.

Nominations for officers were then made, and William Kinsey was elected President; J. Wesley Wright, Secretary; and Charles W. Peire, Treasurer. The further considerations of the election of officers, was then on motion deferred to an adjourned meeting. The officers were instructed to report to that meeting the names of six persons to serve for Directors. On motion the meeting then adjourned to meet at the same place on Monday at 2 o'clock P. M.

—At an adjourned meeting of the Bristol Relief Society, Monday afternoon, Robert Rogers, Joshua Peire, Rev. W. H. Conrad, Peter Hope, Dr. W. B. Baker and Jacob Young were elected directors, and a meeting held this forenoon the town was divided into eleven districts, and a board of visitors appointed, three for each district. The divisions are as follows:

1. Hollow Creek to Middle Washington street.
2. Washington to Middle Penn street.
3. Penn street to Walnut street.
4. Walnut street to Market street.
5. Market to Canal street.
6. All South of Other street.
7. All West of Linden street and north of Other street.
8. Linden street to Mill Race.
9. Between Franklin street and Canal.
10. From the Mill Race to Spruce street.
11. All East of Spruce street.

The names of the visitors of each district are as follows:

1. Fannie B. Peire, Mrs. Capt. Wm. Jones, Emily Schemm.
2. Miss E. O. Vannom, Mrs. Henry Bailey, Mrs. Fannie Laing.
3. Wm. Kalkins, Mrs. Samuel Swain, Miss Ella Warner.
4. Mrs. W. A. Stuart, Mrs. Knox, Miss R. Slack.
5. Mrs. Corey, Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. J. Conn.
6. Mrs. J. Wesley Wright, Miss Kate Phillips, Mrs. E. E. Green.
7. Mrs. Anna H. Stradling, Mrs. D. Jones, Mrs. J. Rogers.
8. Mrs. G. W. Strauser, Mrs. Lewis Tice, Mrs. W. H. Conrad.
9. Mrs. J. Peire, Mrs. Eliza, Miss Mary Packer, Mrs. Joseph Peire.
10. Mrs. E. Barton, Mrs. L. A. Hogue, Mrs. C. W. Peire, Mrs. J. Peire, Mrs. J. Peire.
11. Miss Ida Parker, Miss Willard, Miss Susan Treddell.

Emmor Comly was chosen superintendent, and the office of the society will be in the vacant house on Radcliffe street adjoining his residence, which will be open for the present on Tuesdays and Fridays from 10 to 5 P. M. All persons are invited to send articles of clothing to the superintendent, and are requested to abstain from personal soliciting, but send all applicants to any member of the board of visitors in the district in which they reside.
